Good Reliable 10¢ Safety Razors,

Is it possible to buy a really good Safety Razor for only 10¢? A natural question, and we answer yes, it is. The blade is made of the Finest Tempered Sheffield Steel.

It has the same quality blade that is used in the highest priced safety razor. It has a guard that makes the shaving stroke easy. The Dime Safety Razor has revolutionized the safety razor trade. One New York store sold 14,000 of them the first day they were on sale.

The holder is simple, but ingenious. We have secured the selling rights for Richmond. Price, complete with one blade in metal box, 10¢. Extra blades, 3 for 10¢. Each blade will give as many shaves as any safety razor on the market, whatever its price.

SHAFT DRIVEN INTO BOY'S HEAD BY CRASH

Courtenay Thompson Dangerously Injured in Collision With Dr. Moon's Buggy.

LATTER HURRIED TO POLICE

Took Victim to Physician First and Then Offered Himself to Law.

Calmly announcing to the officers in the central office that he had accidentally run over J. Courtenay Thompson, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. Robert Thompson, of No. 511 North Eleventh Street, and that the boy was dangerously injured, if not fatally, Dr. S. E. Moon, of No. 1724 Grove Avenue, yesterday offered to surrender himself to the police and declared his willingness to be placed under arrest. Upset as he was over the sad accident, he made a written report of the affair to the officers, and the statement was taken in charge by Captain Tomlinson. The latter consulted with Judge W. H. Moon, of the Hustings Court, who, after hearing all the details, decided that it was not necessary to place the physician under arrest, and he was allowed to depart.

In the event, however, that the boy dies from the injuries, Dr. Moon may be arrested, though there is no doubt of his acquittal, considering the circumstances surrounding the case.

Boy Rode Into Horse. The accident occurred on Grace Street, between Fourth and Fifth, about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Dr. Moon, with his wife and young daughter, was driving eastward, and the boy, with one or two companions, was wheeling toward the west. According to the testimony of eyewitnesses, the boy was looking behind him as he rode along, and, despite Dr. Moon's efforts to avert the collision, he rode into the horse, falling beneath its forelegs. The vehicle was stopped almost immediately, and Thompson was saved from further injury beneath the wheels.

Throwing the reins to his wife, Dr. Moon jumped out of his buggy and ran back to the prostrate boy.

He was unconscious, but still struggling in his agony. Knowing that medical aid was immediately needed, Dr. Moon carried him into the office of Dr. George Ben Johnston, where he was placed on the operating table without delay. A large hole, made evidently by a shaft or one of the horse's hoofs, was found in the side of his head, and, after necessary preliminary dressing, he was removed to the Memorial Hospital. There it was stated last night that he has a chance for recovery, though his condition is regarded as very precarious.

Gives Himself Up.

After seeing that all possible attention had been given to the lad, Dr. Moon immediately to police headquarters and gave himself up. After his release he drove around to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, and acquainted them with the accident. The young physician's distress was greatly accentuated by the grief of Mrs. Thompson, who, on seeing her son, went into hysterics.

Mr. Thompson, who is employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company, was not at home at the time, and Dr. Moon called a second time in order to tell the father of the accident. Though the boy is his only son, Mr. Thompson took it all with splendid fortitude and attached no blame to the physician.

Dr. Moon made all effort to escape collision, and the result was purely accidental in the eyes of all who witnessed it. Had the boy been looking ahead of him, it might have been averted. Even the horse was frightened after going over the lad, for he stood trembling in his tracks after being brought to a halt.

Dr. Moon called twice at the hospital, and was there last night for some time assisting the other physicians.

SET HEN ON BOILED EGGS

"Cyclone" Fine Product so Warm They Refused to Be Hatched.

Constable "Cyclone" Samuels has been boasting of late that he possessed the finest set of eggs raised in the State of Virginia. The fame of his chickens spread among the inhabitants of Henrico, and a certain friend of "Cyclone's," becoming desirous of owning some of the famous stock, purchased a setting of eggs for 25 cents. After the eggs had been left in the incubator for two days, one of them fell out upon the ground and broke. The purchaser is unable to explain it, but declares that every one of the eggs was hard boiled. "Cyclone" has not been seen about the courthouse for the last few days.

Call Found On. Because he objected to being "sworn at," Lewis Jackson (colored) had his cousin, Thomas Jackson, raised in Henrico county on Saturday. The case was tried yesterday morning before Judge Thomas. Neither plaintiff nor defendant seemed to like the atmosphere of the court, however, and agreed to call the feud off. The case was dismissed with costs, and the cousins left together.

HURLED INTO AIR BY ELECTRIC BOLT

Physicians, Who Hear Details of Accident to Mr. Hobson, Declare Escape Remarkable.

NOW ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Severely Burned, but No Indications of Internal Complications. Not Direct Stroke.

According to dispatches from Pemberton, Va., last night, the condition of Mr. Saunders Hobson, of Richmond, who was struck by lightning Sunday afternoon, was decidedly encouraging. He rested well during the day, his physicians announcing that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

Had Remarkable Escape. Further details of the accident, which occurred on Mr. Hobson's estate, "Howard's Neck," in Gloucester county, show that his escape was one of the most remarkable on record. He was injured about 6 P. M., while hurrying from a walk to a dog being his only companion. He was in a quarter of a mile out when the storm broke. Meeting his overseer, Mr. Bagby, and the latter's son, all ran for shelter. Just as they passed a small evergreen bush, scarcely more than ten feet in height, passing the roots and lower limbs of which was entwined a wild grape, Mr. Hobson was struck as he put his foot on a trailer, and hurled fully five or six feet in the air. He was stunned by the fall, his dog, following close at his heels, received a greater shock, and being unable to get up, lay down on a low fence and instantly killed. The body was terribly incinerated.

Mr. Bagby and his son were twenty or thirty feet behind, and while blinded for a moment and somewhat shocked, they were not injured.

Shock of Life. Thinking that Mr. Hobson had been killed, they were preparing to carry him to the house, when slight signs of life were noticed. Recovering somewhat from the stunning effect of the shock, Mr. Hobson seemed to be almost sufficed, and he was hurriedly taken to the house, where two attendants soon opened his clothes and strove in every way to relieve him. They summoned assistance and removed him to the house on a shutter, messages being immediately sent to Richmond for physicians and nurses.

Dr. William E. Oppenheimer and Dr. Robert C. Bryan responded, and were with the patient all night, resigning the charge yesterday, after the immediate danger seemed to have passed, to Dr. Sneed, of Cartersville.

After a careful examination the physicians concluded that Mr. Hobson did not receive a direct stroke, but that the bolt either hit the dog or the ground between and entered Mr. Hobson through the grapevine which was torn to shreds.

Both of his shoes were torn off by the bolt, his belt buckles broken and his watch and keys forced from his pocket, everything metal about him seeming to attract its part of the lightning. When examined it was found that he was burned on the left side of the foot to the shins. Slightly marked across the abdomen, and burned on the upper right chest as if the current had entered his left foot and left by the right hand. The head and eyes are entirely uninjured. That he was not instantly killed is regarded as remarkable.

No Internal Complications. The physicians said yesterday that there were no indications so far of serious internal complications. He is suffering severely from the shock, the burns, while quite painful, are not regarded as serious in their nature, and a complete recovery is now expected.

Mr. Hobson is entirely conscious and cheerful, and is much more comfortable, as the treatment is beginning to take effect. Trained nurses were sent yesterday, and as soon as his condition will permit he will be moved to a Richmond hospital.

LAMP EXPLOSION SCORE Oregon Hill Excited by Fire, the Damage of Which Was Terrible.

Great excitement was caused on Oregon Hill about 9:30 last night by the explosion of a lamp in the rear of the Black and White Church and Rowe Streets. Some children of Mrs. Blackburn dropped the lamp on their way upstairs, and it fell, drawing the attention of numerous people. An alarm was turned in by a neighbor, but the fire was extinguished by the fire department. Mr. Everett, another volunteer fireman, cut his foot as he tried to break the lamp glass. No serious damage was caused.

Burglar Enters Cafe. Letting himself down by a rope through a skylight in the rear, some one early Sunday night entered the cafe, at No. 712 East Broad Street, and attempted to burglarize the place. Only a few cents, however, had been left in the register, and the money was not touched. An attempt was made to break into the safe, but the thief could not force the combination.

Hotel Men Off to Convention. Entertained Here Before Leaving for Meeting at Natural Bridge.

Representatives of the Norfolk and Richmond hotels, many of whom were accompanied by their wives, left yesterday afternoon for the Natural Bridge and Ohio Railway for Natural Bridge to attend the three days' convention of the Virginia Hotel Men's Association, which begins to-day. The party traveled in a special Pullman car. While at the Blue Ridge Hotel, the visitors will be lavishly entertained.

On arrival in this city yesterday morning at 11:15, the delegation from Norfolk was met at the station by a committee of local hotel men, and escorted to the Richmond Hotel, located here for an automobile ride around the city. After driving through Reservoir Park the party was entertained at the home of Mr. William Rueger, where light refreshments were served. After a stay of an hour or more the cars returned to the Richmond for luncheon.

A number of after-dinner speeches enlivened the occasion. Those in the party were W. C. Royer and wife, Lynnhaven, George D. Sherman and wife, Monticello, Norfolk, A. T. Moore and wife, Warwick, Newport News; J. H. Harrison and wife, Chesapeake; J. H. Marshall and wife, Park; S. T. Atkinson and wife, Richmond; J. Lee Davis and wife, Davis Hotel; William Rueger, Rueger's Hotel; P. M. Fry, Jefferson; John Murphy, Jr., and wife, Murphy's.

Mr. Cabell Returns. Postmaster Royal E. Cabell returned to the city yesterday, after having attended the National Republican Convention as an alternate from the Third District. He expressed himself as highly pleased with the work of the body, and believes the ticket nominated will be easily elected, and that Taft and Sherman will probably carry some States heretofore in the Democratic column.

FOR LOSS OF APETITE. Half a teaspoon Herford's Acid Phosphate in half a glass water after meals. Valuable in the treatment of exhaustion.
